Recommendation

To amend the boundary of Great Faringdon parish, as shown on the attached map

Justification

The planning committee recently recently resolved to grant planning permission for residential development at Fernham Fields, south of Faringdon. Fernham Fields lies in Great Coxwell parish but the new development will form an extension to the town of Faringdon. The working group considers that the identities and interests of the new residents and their effective and convenient representation at parish level is best served by moving Fernham Fields into Great Faringdon parish.
