Powering Up for the Green Recovery	Advanced Oxford's report Powering Up for the Green Recovery highlighted a number of issues, including investment, skills, market-making and the need for continued investment into innovation space providing office, laboratory and manufacturing facilities. High potential companies need to be retained within Oxfordshire, with the potential for spill-over effects into other regions of the UK, for example through manufacturing and supply chain developments. Support and incentives for companies looking to stay within the UK need to be competitive with other international markets that are looking to attract companies. The Growth Board is asked to consider how the recommendations can help inform their work and that of its partner organisations.	Sarah Haywood Price, Advanced Oxford and Ahmed Goga, OxLEP
